How to Create the Building Blocks Shape Matching Game: Collect blocks in a range of sizes and colors, and markers or pens that match each block's color. Place each block the same piece of paper. Trace each block with the coordinating color marker. Place the blocks in a group and mix them up. Challenge your child to play by matching the blocks to the outline of corresponding shape and color on the paper.

Physicists have identified 12 building blocks that are the fundamental constituents of matter. Our everyday world is made of just three of these building blocks: the up quark, the down quark and the electron. This set of particles is all that's needed to make protons and neutrons and to form atoms and molecules.
