As mentioned above, this pacing guide is aligned to the 5th grade common core math standards. The guide includes the math skill with the common core standard with which the skill correlates. In addition to the time frame and sequence of skills, I also included my rationale and reasons for teaching the skill at that point in the year (or my reasons for teaching that skill before or after other math skills).

standard, with learning progressions that continue throughout the year. For example, in the 1st nine-week term, the teacher will begin with the basic skills for each standard. Then instruction will focus on building on those skills progressively in the subsequent nine-week periods throughout the considerable autonomy in the day-to-day learning that occurs in their classrooms. Now, it is growing increasingly rare for a teacher to experience this type of professional freedom. In response to high-stakes testing, national and state academic content standards, and most recently the common core standards, pacing guides are one of the more recent devices schools are using to implement and monitor curriculum. The purpose of this research project is to investigate teacher opinion toward these pacing guides. An online survey called the Pacing Guide Survey was delivered to secondary regular and special education teachers in core subject areas of mathematics, science, social studies, and language arts. The teachers were asked about whether or not they use pacing guides, their attitude and comfort level in using pacing guides, as well as: Information concerning the population of their high school, such as demographics, enrollment, and single or multiple high schools; Building level factors, such as professional development initiatives, methods of curriculum monitoring, and pacing guide development and revisions processes; teacher factors, such as years teaching, years using pacing guides, confidence in content area, and educational background. Administrators were also interviewed to form a complete picture of pacing guide development and implementation in the secondary education environment.

Quantitative data were analyzed using bivariate Spearman's rank order correlation and qualitative data were analyzed using a combination of thematic data analysis and quasi-statistical methods. Recommendations based on the data collected are: Teachers should be provided with the flexibility to address student needs in the classroom. Teacher input into pacing guide development, implementation, and revision process is necessary to ensure that student needs are addressed. Team autonomy is key and teacher teams need to be provided with the necessary support structure to provide meaningful learning experiences for their students.

This is a unique type of student text book for the study of Math 1 or Algebra 1. It includes vocabulary, instructional, and practice materials for each area of study covered by the usual and customary Math 1 curriculum. Applicable project materials are included for some but not all areas of study.
